THE WILD & SCENIC ROGUE

In 1968, the Rogue was one of the first rivers to be given protection under the National Wild and Scenic River Act. Anyone lucky enough to explore it understands why this unique beauty must be preserved and enjoyed by future generations.

Originating near Crater Lake and ending in the Pacific Ocean, the Rogue flows through diverse forests full of inquisitive wildlife, teeming with seasonal flowers and wild blackberries. It offers glimpses into the forgotten history lessons of earlier residents - from Native Americans to miners, ranchers, and even famous authors.

GOALS Rogue River expeditions are built around the natural curiosity of what's around the next bend, behind that towering tree, and under the crystal green water. The countless rapids are comfortably challenging, the water is just the right temp for an afternoon swim, and the late day light is indescribable.

This place inspires the heart, stirs the brain, and welcomes the soul. This is the Wild and Scenic Rogue.

5 REASONS TO CHOOSE THE ROGUE:

1. A slow pace - time to relax, play & connect.
2. Side hikes to the world's coolest swimming holes.
3. Abundant wildlife.
4. Mule Creek Canyon - there's nowhere like it.
5. Tide pools & redwood forests on the coast.

KIDS LOVE THE ROGUE BECAUSE:

- they get to fly without mom and dad.
- they can be in duckies the entire time.
- clear water = cliff jumping!
- there's less sand than in the desert.
- everything is just a little different than normal (trees, rocks, water color, etc.)
- they fall asleep to the sound of seals barking.
